

Foster Youth

Research has shown that youth in foster care graduate at relatively low rates and are less likely to complete high school than their non-foster care peers. Also, the odds of graduating from high school were found to be 2.8 times higher for foster youth who participated in a mentoring or tutoring program. Since 1983, Professional Tutors of America Inc. has been providing one-to-one tutoring and small group instruction to thousands of foster children throughout the United States.

Special Education Services

We have a Nationwide Network of teachers and consultants with Special Education credentials and many years of successful classroom and individual instruction experience. We will provide assessments, make IEP recommendations, and participate in IEP meetings. Within our network of Special Education teachers are professionals with expertise in specific learning disabilities, intellectual disabilities, autism, visual impairment, hearing impairment, emotional disturbance, dyslexia, multiple disabilities, ADD and ADHD. Our services may be delivered through the student's IEP or compensatory education. Our teachers can tailor instruction to assist students with preparation for the high school exit exam, homework assistance, IEP goals and objectives or transition plans.

Testimonials

This past year, we have referred 30 of our students to Professional Tutors of America. Most of our students are residing in group homes or with foster parents. Many of our students are Special Education students and are often several years behind in development of academic skills. Because of the variances in their education, the fact that the tutoring is on a one-to-one basis has allowed each student to receive the specific, individualized attention where it was most needed. Our children seem more motivated to learn and improved in daily school tasks and study skills. We look forward to continue working with Professional Tutors again this year.

I am a group home provider who has had the opportunity of referring minors to Professional Tutors of America. This is our 2nd year of participation and we have seen great progress because of your excellent program. Two of the minors who participated in the program last year passed both parts of the High School Exit Exam. Your tutors were professional, knowledgeable, and maintained a good rapport with the minors, which I feel was one of the contributing factors that led to their empowerment and elevating their self-esteem. I look forward to working with you in the future.

I have referred numerous juveniles on my caseload to Professional Tutors when schools have been unable to raise achievement levels even using school resources for tutoring during or after school. Tutors show up on time and have a way of explaining the topics to these kids in ways they can grasp. Not only are they learning, but they are gaining confidence too. This is huge at their age!
